Southern Teachers is assisting Glenelg Country School as it seeks a Head of the Upper School to lead the division and be responsible for day-to-day operations. Reporting to the Head of School, the Head of the Upper School is a member of the Administrative Leadership Team.

The Head of the Upper School is responsible for the program, faculty, students, and overall operations of the upper school division, which serves 335 students in grades nine through twelve.

Successful candidates will have an advanced degree, teaching experience in an independent school, and proven leadership experience. He or she will have exceptional communication skills, an accessible and collaborative management style, and a passion for working with young people and for school life.

Glenelg Country School is a coeducational, non-sectarian independent school serving 750 students ages two through grade twelve with a 48% minority student representation. Founded in 1954, Glenelg is situated in a 90-acre natural setting in Howard County, Maryland. The campus is itself a classroom, with lush-green wooded land, three school buildings, a Manor House dating back to 1740, a pond, a state-of-the-art athletic stadium, multiple libraries, and a research-grade EDF refractor observatory. Glenelg carries the traditions of academic excellence, healthy living, diversity, athletics, the arts, and strong community involvement throughout all grade levels. Its balanced, holistic philosophy of learning incorporates multiple disciplines that help children grow into exceptional adults.
