The Opportunity

Southern Teachers is assisting The Fletcher School in the search for its next Head of Middle and Upper School, who will create a dynamic learning environment that provides rich experiences in and beyond the classroom for students as learners and community members. The Head of Middle and Upper School oversees the divisions’ hiring and supervision of instructional and support personnel and all curricular and non-curricular activities involving the divisions’ students and faculty.

The Fletcher School empowers students with learning differences to achieve bright futures by offering an individualized, multisensory, college-preparatory curriculum that prepares them to reach their full potential.

The Fletcher School opened its doors for the first time in August 1982. It was the culmination of a dream and the result of untiring efforts by a group of parents who were frustrated by the lack of educational options for their children with learning disabilities. Today, the School serves over 280 students in grades K-12 with a faculty and staff of more than 90. It also includes the Rankin Institute, an outreach program to provide education and resources to teachers, professionals, and parents beyond those directly involved with Fletcher’s academic programs.

Fletcher sees each student as an individual, with their own unique interests, strengths, and capabilities to be successful now and in the future. The Middle and Upper Schools focus on individualized instruction and assessment, while also challenging students to think critically and to strengthen their executive functioning skills. Principled components of the Orton-Gillingham program further enhance learning of content and skills. The Fletcher School seeks a skilled and visionary leader who will continue the school’s academic excellence, support a superb faculty, and deepen student life experiences.

The Fletcher School is a coeducational day school serving 280 students with learning differences in kindergarten through grade twelve.
