Assistant Head of Upper School for Teaching and Learning
The Lovett School
Atlanta, Georgia

lovett.org

Southern Teachers is assisting The Lovett School with its search for an Assistant Head of Upper School for Teaching and Learning who will collaborate with department heads of all three divisions to ensure students’ robust and cohesive learning experience in keeping with the school’s Whole Child Education model and core values. The Assistant Head will report to the Head of Upper School and serve on the division’s administrative team.

The Assistant Head supports faculty professional development and helps department heads with curriculum development, differentiation, interdisciplinary work, and data collection to inform curricular decision-making. Coordinating with department heads and the Head of Upper School, the Assistant Head provides faculty accountability and one-on-one instructional coaching; develops leadership among faculty; facilitates teacher-to-teacher mentorship; and supports the recruiting, interviewing, hiring, and onboarding of new Upper School faculty. Serving as the Global Online Academy (GOA) site director, the Assistant Head helps with enrollment, troubleshooting, and advising and promotes GOA professional development opportunities to Lovett’s faculty and staff.

The ideal candidate is a relational leader who builds trustful, positive relationships and interacts joyfully with students, teachers, and families. He or she holds an advanced degree and has significant experience with instructional coaching, competency-based education, Understanding by Design, neuroscience and human development, and social-emotional education. The Assistant Head must be dedicated to creating and sustaining an atmosphere of high expectation and support, with a genuine love and optimism for Upper School students and a keen awareness of their gifts and needs.

The Lovett School, founded in 1926, is Atlanta's school of choice for families who value its multi-faceted approach to educate the whole child—where intellectual rigor, social-emotional learning, and character development are purposefully cultivated and inextricably linked. The school inspires its 1,640 students, grades kindergarten through grade twelve, to challenge themselves in the classroom, on the stage, in the studio, on the playing field, and in the community. More than 6,000 alumni consistently note that Lovett’s liberal arts curriculum has prepared them well for their many endeavors, including Olympic competition, space exploration, and business entrepreneurship.
