Southern Teachers is assisting Grace-St. Luke's Episcopal School as it seeks a mission-appropriate educator to lead its thriving Middle School. Reporting to the Head of School, the Head of Middle School is responsible for the program, guidance, and management of grades five through eight. As a member of the school's leadership team, the MS Head collaborates with the other departments and division heads to ensure congruence with the school's mission and works closely with teachers, students, parents, and fellow administrators in a variety of capacities to provide excellent programs and support.

Candidates should hold advanced degrees in relevant fields and be self-starters who can prioritize and multi-task in a fast-paced environment and can delegate and manage multiple responsibilities. The Middle School Head must have excellent written and oral communication skills, an approachable and genuine demeanor, strong ethics, a love of middle school children, and a good sense of humor.

GSL has been educating children since 1947 as a coeducational private school in the heart of Midtown Memphis. While it is anchored in the historic Central Gardens neighborhood, its preschool through eighth grade students come not only from midtown Memphis but from communities around the Mid-South. As one of the city's leading independent schools, GSL prepares students to become creative problem solvers, confident lifelong learners, and responsible citizens in their communities and the world. Its reputation for producing good kids who are in all ways ready for high school is well-known throughout the city and larger community. GSL works hard to live intentionally and purposefully into its mission statement at every division level.
